

Find Out How Jahn Got Her Master's Degree While Working at Home Depot.

For years Jahn Joyce had been wanting to pursue her Master of Business Administration (MBA).

However, as a full-time human resources (HR) manager working 60-hour weeks, she was reluctant to commit to a traditional MBA program and wasn't ready for the lengthy application process of most graduate schools.

So when an Admissions Advisor from Kaplan University—The Home Depot's educational partner—requested a visit to speak with employees at her store location, she readily agreed.

That visit proved to be the start of a new pathway for Jahn to achieve her MBA goal.* She enrolled and began earning her degree online.

As a student, Jahn was able to maintain her hectic work schedule, which included a grueling three-hour commute. With much hard work and commitment—and strong contact with teachers and classmates—she earned a 4.0 grade point average and graduated with an MBA in 2011.

Since earning her MBA at Kaplan University, Jahn has received greater responsibilities and a well-earned title change.†

She's always ready to share her success story with friends, family, and fellow employees at The Home Depot.

Jahn Joyce, MBA 2011

*District Human Resources Manager,
The Home Depot*

“Interacting with other professionals and hearing their perspectives about different HR scenarios helped broaden my point of view. I think of those experiences as I make business decisions everyday.”

“It was life changing then and has only gotten better since.”

I am Kaplan

For comprehensive consumer and gainful employment information, visit kaplan.edu/info.

This testimonial was solicited by Kaplan University. Views and opinions stated herein are the individual's and not necessarily those of Kaplan University. Individual student experiences may vary.

* While many of Kaplan University's degree programs are designed to prepare graduates to pursue continued graduate- or doctorate-level education, the University cannot guarantee that students will be granted admission to any graduate or doctoral programs.

† Kaplan University cannot guarantee employment or career advancement.